This website may include links to third-party websites, plug-ins and applications. Clicking on those links or enabling those connections may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. We do not control these third-party websites and are not responsible for their privacy statements. When you leave our website, we encourage you to read the privacy notice of every website you visit.

The Data We Collect About You and How We Collect It

We collect several different types of personal data from you depending on how you interact with our site. Most of the information we collect is given to us by you through filling out forms, registering for an account, or otherwise providing information when asked.

Occasionally, we do collect information about you without you providing it, such as when you participate in a race and we collect your race times, etc. Because we may change our website and the services we offer from time to time, the means and methods to provide us with personal data may also change. Depending on how you interact with us and use the website, the personal data we collect may vary. Please read below for the common ways in which we collect your personal data.

a) Creating an Account on the Site

If you create an account, we collect data from you in order to associate the account with you. This information includes your full name, email address, a password you create, and your date of birth (we use your birthdate to make sure you are put into the correct race categories and to make sure you are eligible to participate in CrossFit events) (“Account Information”). By default, we’ll only use your personal data to administer your account and to provide the products and services you requested from us. Filling Out Your Athlete Info
Once you have created an account, you are free to provide other personal information about yourself related to your status.

b) Enrolling in Events If you enroll or sign up for an event, competition, you will be asked to provide information about yourself in order to help us facilitate the event. This may include Contact Information, Billing Information, Personal Bio, and other information. We use this information for various purposes, including verifying the identity of an athlete, ensuring that the competition rules and requirements are complied with, recording competition results and records of participation, preventing fraud, ensuring the safety of race participants, and generally creating a level playing field.

Making a Purchase When you make a purchase on our website or elsewhere, we collect your contact information, shipping address, payment card information/account information and billing address (“Billing Information”). We use this information to process payment, process shipments of goods, and for legitimate interests like preventing fraud.

How We Use Your Personal Data

We will only use your personal data when allowed by law. Generally, we will use your personal data:

- (a) where we need to perform the contract we are about to enter into or have entered into with you;
- (b) where it is necessary for our legitimate interests and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests;
- (c) where we need to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.

Purposes for Which We Will Use Your Personal Data Below are some of the common ways in which we process your personal data. We have identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate. Note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Please contact us if you need details about the specific legal ground we are relying on to process your personal data where more than one ground has been set out below:

- a) To fulfill a purchase order;
- b) Notifying you about changes to our terms or privacy notice;
- c) To administer and protect our business and this website (including troubleshooting, data analysis, testing, system maintenance, support, reporting and hosting of data);
- d) To provide you with information and marketing communications about our products and services;
- e) To enroll you in a race or other event.

Publicly Available Information

Disclosures Of Your Personal Data From time to time, we may need to share your personal data with others. Publicly Available Information Some of your data will be shared with the general public, including:

- your posts to a public area or feature of our site, such as a message board, chat room, bulletin board, list serve, blog, vlog, wiki or other open forum;
- if you participate in competition your name, event results, performance times, and other information about may be posted publicly;
- the information you include in your profile page on the website;
- posts, new articles, updates, race results, and other information that we provide to the public about our events may include personally identifiable information. For example, we may report on the winners of a particular event which requires us to identify them by name.

Please note that when information is made publicly available it may be accessed by anyone with access to the site or forum to which the information is posted. It may also be indexed by third-party search engines, and be imported, exported, distributed, aggregated, and redistributed by others without our knowledge. Please take caution before posting information publicly. Third-Party Service Providers—We may share your information, including but not limited to contact data and technical data, with third party service providers who perform various functions to enable us to provide our services and help us operate our business, such as website design, sending email communications, fraud detection and prevention, customer care, payment processing, or performing analytics. In some circumstances you can ask us to delete your data (see “EU Data Subjects Legal Rights”). In some circumstances we may anonymize your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes in which case we may use this information indefinitely without further notice to you.

Data Security

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorized way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality. We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

Privacy Rights

EU data subjects have certain rights with respect to your personal data that we collect and process. We respond to all requests we receive from individuals in the EEA wishing to exercise their data protection rights in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

- Access, Correction or Deletion—You may request access to, correction of, or deletion of your personal data. You can often go directly into the service under Account Settings to take these actions. Please note that even if you request for your personal data to be deleted, certain aspects may be retained for us to: meet our legal or regulatory compliance (e.g. maintaining records of transactions you have made with us); exercise, establish or defend legal claims; and to protect against fraudulent or abusive activity on our Service.
- Objection—You may object to processing of your personal data where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.
- Restriction—You have the right to ask us to suspend the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios:
 - (a) if you want us to establish the data's accuracy;
 - (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it;
 - (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims;
 - (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.
- Portability—You have the right to request the transfer of your personal data to you or to a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.
- Withdraw Consent—If we have collected and processed your personal data with your consent, you can withdraw your consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent will not affect the lawfulness of any processing we conducted prior to your withdrawal, nor will it affect processing of your personal data conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.
- File a Complaint—You have the right to file a complaint with a supervisory authority about our collection and processing of your personal data. To file a request or take action on one of your rights, please contact us at the contact details provided. You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances. We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response. We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.
